Action Bus Wash Tour to the Belconnen Bus Depot - Preschool

It was a very exciting morning when bus driver Paul came to collect us for our bus wash tour. We needed a special ticket to board the bus and received a fun “Spotto” sheet to look out for many interesting things. We had spotted all of them by the time we arrived back at preschool! Paul drove us down Belconnen Way to the Jamison Shopping precinct where we ticked off spotting another bus, a fire engine, traffic lights and a petrol station. We drove past the Police Station on our way to the bus our journey back to preschool before seeing a person waiting at a bus stop at the interchange. We also saw the tram go past near Dickson which was exciting!

At the bus depot, we drove through the “bus hospital” – the workshop where the busses are given a check up and fixed up. A mechanic was very cheeky and sprayed our windows with a hose! Then it was into the big bus wash where we held our hands up to the windows and felt the cold water cleaning our bus. Now it was super clean!

Looking out through the wet windows, we passed the bus parking area and had to shout out very loud “Wake up Busses” so they would be ready for their next shift and go driving around our suburbs to pick up their passengers. A bus conductor boarded our bus and with her Scooby Doo helper, they asked to see our bus tickets. Luckily we all had a ticket! We are grateful for a wonderful bus ride around Canberra and for our parent helpers who came along with us. Toot Toot!!!
